RUNS through our portrait work that is easily recognized by the discriminating. Perhaps this helps to explain the patronage of many men and women of affairs, as is shown by our collection of portraits of the prominent. When one thinks carefully the decision is sure to be for posing and detail that indicate genuine culture, and that have a standing everywhere among those who know and appreciate the best.

SUCH work is our constant idea, and we have the finest equipment in Boston for its execution.

FAREWELL TO BOSTON

"REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM"

Monday, December 9th, for two weeks only, Klaw & Erlanger will present (Direction of Joseph Brooks), "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Brimming over with the sheer joy of youth and life and conveying a message of tenderness and good will to the hearts of young and old "Rebecca" comes to Boston for her farewell engagement. Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin has done much for literature and much for humanity, but her happiest thought was that which led her, with the aid of Miss Charlotte Thompson, to cull the pages of her famous "Rebecca Books" and prepare the stage version of these classic stories of New England life, that Klaw & Erlanger, under the direction of Joseph Brooks, are now presenting to the American theatregoers for the third triumphant season.

There have been other girl heroines but none has ever reached quite so deeply and permanently into the hearts of her public as Mrs. Wiggin's whimsical little maid of the old Pine Tree State. There have also been other "girl actresses" but none whose childhood promise of dramatic talent has borne such fruit as Miss Edith Taliaferro, who returns to us again as "Rebecca." Riper in method and surer of touch than where she first played this difficult but intensely sympathetic role, Miss Taliaferro, at eighteen, is still the demure, slender little lass of two years ago and her performance is the chief delight of the play.

The story as staged leads through Rebecca's development from romping girlhood to dawning maturity and leaves her gazing with radiant, wondering eyes into the face of her first true love. The plot is simple in the extreme but is unfolded by characters so grippingly human and true to environment that one never misses the lack of "big situations," "climaxes" and all the rest of the drama's customary art.

Miss Taliaferro is still surrounded by the original cast, including Archie Boyd, Sam Coit, Hayward Ginn, Viola Fortescue, Ada Deaves, Clara Mersereau, Nennelle Foster and others. Regular matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

EXERCISE for the Body is as essential for one's well being as exercise for the brain.

THE PEOPLE of sedentary habits have, as a rule, active minds but because of the limited time at their disposal, allow the muscles of the body to grow flabby from disuse.

WHY NOT cultivate the "TURKISH BATH" habit? It not only stimulates and tones the tired brain, but hardens the body muscles and steadies the entire nervous system.
